Dear Miss Vales

You attended for an eye examination and visual skills assessment on 29/11/2012.
(Focus, Convergence and Tracking)

Diagnosis:

My findings reveal healthy eyes internally and externally.

You are near sighted astigmatic which means that the visual system does not have clear vision in the distance but has clear vision at near. A prescription for distance vision is highly recommended.

You have a binocular instability due to an accommodative (focus) excess which means that the visual system is over focusing in an effort to stay aligned on the near work for reading and studying, or due to the amount of visual error present in the visual system, or due to an abnormally close reading posture. This ultimately results in visual fatigue and causes delays in the visual processing and loss of concentration due to the resulting blurred vision. Focus is controlled by the internal eye muscles, whereas convergence is controlled by the external eye muscles.

Visual Tracking:

This is a diagnostic tracking test which measures grade level reading efficiency. The binocular instabilities described above can result in poor visual tracking.

The visual tracking seen in the enclosed graph indicates that your eyes have a tendency to over converge while reading, and this becomes associated with visual fatigue and poor tracking, when concentrating at near and this can be compared to the sample of a good tracking pattern, which is attached to the report.

Therapy (In the form of therapeutic/prescriptive spectacles or eye-exercises):

Spectacles have been prescribed for near vision which conserves energy, gives clear vision and delays visual fatigue, and are to be used for all visual concentration at near such as reading, writing and studying.

The near working distance should be approximately 40 cm from the eyes and work material should be centrally placed so that both eyes share the work load.

Visual therapy (eye exercises) is a consideration in due course if necessary.

A review has been arranged for 6 months to a year.

Yours sincerely

Hi Donna,

I hope all is well by you. This is Esther Mendlovics from New York. My 3 children visited your office in August. I am seeing such a change especially in Frady. It came to a point that she's always found buried in a book and I must take books away from her cause she forgets to eat and do her homework. Before she had glasses she nearly tossed every book she picked up to read after a few minutes reading.. Thanks to such a wonderful doctor new worlds are open for us.

My question is if all is well how long can I wait to visit your office for a recheck?

I shared my success story with my family and I have a desperate mother and father (relative) who have a 12 year old son which is a very bright boy but has a very severe problem reading . He is bright enough to memorize the material taught, but he is failing in most areas because it requires reading. The parents are ready to take any apt you have available asap even during the jewish holiday hannuka. Please let me know when you have the first available slot.

Thank you and awaiting to hear from you, Esther Mendlovics Sent from my Verizon Wireless BlackBerry to me

Dear Dr. Kleid Alexandra, I'm writing you this letter regarding my son Joel Ackerman, which is a 12 year old boy. He is struggling very hard to keep up with his class. At this point he is almost a complete fall out from class. After so many years of trying all kinds of different therapy private tutoring and even medication nothing have seem to work so far on him. Then a friend told us about you. We heard that you helped so many people. We tried calling you so many times but couldn't get through, at one time we tried over one hour but the lines were constantly busy. When we finally got through we were told to call back in a month. We hope you can help our son.

THANKS

*Yours truly aron and pearl and our beloved son
Joel Ackerman*
